Danish ironmongery design company d line as, sponsors GREEN HOME DESIGN 2012 “abitare il presente - Living the present”

MADE Expo
Fiera Milano Rho • 17-20 October 2012

Danish ironmongery design company d line as, is an official sponsor of GREEN HOME DESIGN 2012 from 17th to 20th October 2012 at MADE Expo in Milan.

GREEN HOME DESIGN 2012 “abitare il presente – Living the present” is an event dedicated to the world of projects and construction. Focus will be on houses, materials, interior design and energy efficiency all coming together to form sustainable architecture.

d line teams up with 2 well known Italian architects

The GREEN HOME DESIGN will consist of 5 display installations where d line has been assigned to architect Marco Piva, on his installation “Space for life”. The installation will showcase a cost, construction and manager efficient modular element building solution that embraces the concept of sustainability and green energy.

d line will also partner with architect Max Mandarini , who is responsible for the installation Green Kinder House – GKH. An Installation in 3 levels that guides us through the sustainable educational ground floor, through the first floor that will be facing ecology, consumption and sustainable resources. The second floor is a greenhouse – where nature occupies the space.

d line will be contributing our stainless steel products and accessories to both installations.
